The United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights (1948); the International Labour Organisation's Tripartite Declaration of Principles concerning Multinational Enterprises and Social Policy (1977); The Global Compact (2000); the UN Guidelines for Business and Human Rights (2011) and the Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises developed by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) (2011) all define the most accepted frameworks for responsible business enterprises.

I. ILO Conventions

The International Labour Organisation (ILO), whose tripartite structure includes representatives of governments, employers and workers, holds the responsibility for setting international labour standards and it is the legitimate source for international labour standards and their interpretation.

ILO standards are set in Conventions, having the force of international law and binding for states that have ratified them. They also include Recommendations, which provide additional interpretation guidance.

With the adoption of the Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work (1998) all ILO member states have an obligation, regardless of ratification, to respect, promote and realise the principles contained in the Fundamental ILO Conventions.

- Equal Remuneration Convention, 1951 \(No. 100\)
- Discrimination \(Employment and Occupation\) Convention, 1958 \(No. 111\)

The ILO's Governing Body has also designated another four conventions as "priority" instruments, because of their importance to strengthen national institutions and capacities that serve to promote employment and ensure compliance with labour standards. These conventions were identified by the ILO Declaration on Social Justice for a Fair Globalization and presented as Governance Conventions in the ILO Action Plan 2010-2016.

Governance conventions

- Labour Inspection Convention, 1947 \(No. 81\)
- Employment Policy Convention, 1964 \(No. 122\)
- Labour Inspection \(Agriculture\) Convention, 1969 \(No. 129\)
- Tripartite Consultation \(International Labour Standards\) Convention, 1976 \(No. 144\)

In addition, other ILO Conventions and Standards are particularly relevant for the amfori BSCI and they are the best references for the Terms of Implementation.

Below you find them organized in relation to each amfori BSCI principle.
